

SEX SIGNALS LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Sex Signals is based on the following learning objectives:

- provides a definition of active consent
- unpacks the importance and necessity of consent
- explains the intersection of alcohol and sexual assault
- frames rape as a moral issue
- encourages the importance of bystander intervention
- deconstructs the impact of rape on the victim (and the community)
- debunks myths surrounding rape, and survivors of violence

Different Scripts Available for the following populations:

- Conservative Schools (toned down sexual language)
- Progressive Schools (gender neutral language & more intentional emphasis on LGBT populations)
- Greek Life
- College Athletes

The program provides consistent up-to-date research from the following fields:

- Psychology (Dr. David Lisak)
- Sociology
- Women's and Gender Studies

Appropriate for:

- First Year Programming
- Counseling Center Programming
- Student Activities
- Women's Centers
- Take Back the Night Programming
- Safe Sex Programming
- Anti-Violence Programming

Please share this with any faculty member, those working on the issue of sexual assault, or anyone who would benefit from having Sex Signals on campus!

